and faithful officers, to say nothing of the thousands we dearly love in this wide field.

LONDON, Feb. 23.— It is announced that Booth Tucker and wife will succeed Mr. and Mrs. Ballington Booth in command of the Salvation Army.

February is mailed a long letter to Chauncey M. Depew in reply to one from Depew as chairman of a mass meeting in New York, to protest against the removal of Ballinger's name from the Ballinger-Booth, explaining the changes in the National Guard and the Salvation Army in the United States.

INSURGENT REVERSES.

Minor Engagements in Which the Cubans Lost Men.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)
HAVANA, Feb. 23.—(By South American Cable.) As a result of skirmishes on the plantation of Oviedo, in Havana province, the insurgents lost three killed and four prisoners and sundry arms. At Salud the citizens have killed four insurgents. Capt. Calvo and garrison of Mariano and the regular volunteers and firemen stationed at Punta Brava, fought the insurgent bands of Villa Nueva, Baldomero Acosta. The latter left twenty killed and fifteen prisoners and arms and treated with many wounded. Ninety prisoners of war have been placed in Moro castle.

The authorities attach much importance to the capture of the insurgent leader known as "El Inglesto," one of which was captured by the Association of the Press, and the other by the way to Gomez, bearing news of important movements by the bands he represented, which will prove a fallacy with his capture. The Spanish authorities prohibit this man from being the author of the insurrection, and the Government has taken a leading part in all the insurrectionist movements, and all of the plans of the insurgents in that province and in the neighboring ones. It is expected here that as a result of the summary court-martial many of the Carlisle will officially or otherwise break silence while in town. The first time will be this evening, when he will be the guest of honor at the ball and dinner in honor of his visit at the Metropolitan Club. He will, of course, also break silence at the Manhattan Club dinner tomorrow evening.

DENIES HIS GUILT.

Ingles, the Alleged Burglar, Says He is Innocent.

H. Ingles, the alleged burglar who, it is asserted, was caught in the act of robbing the store of the Rivers Bros. corner of Temple street and Broadway Saturday night, has a family residing at No. 410 West Fourth street. He protests his innocence and declares that his captors arrested the wrong man.

He is a German of small stature, and when seen running across the lawn, he was ordered to stop, said: "Do you want burglars back here and you going for me and my family?"

The young man who arrested him was D. C. Fullmer. Thomas C. Williams, Harry J. Dwineale and C. B. Dodge, a flyman at the Orpheum, and a local deputy, James H. Hattot, assisted in the capture. Mr. Fullmer showed great courage in grappling with the burglar single-handed, as the presumption was that the burglar was armed. Mr. Fullmer had to fight with the latter drew something out of his pocket, which Fullmer thought at first was a gun, but it proved to be a chisel used in plying the trade.

Mr. Fullmer was away, but he was picked up and fitted the marks on the door and ash-drawer exactly. A little change was all the booty to

The prisoner claims to be a "shent man" and to have a bank account. He explains his presence at the scene of the burglary by stating that he was sitting on the steps of the Clifton House when the burglar alarm was given, whereupon he started to call an officer. He has no good excuse to offer for being at the Clifton House at that time of night.

Ingles says he was a tobaccoist in San Francisco for five years, but came out about two months ago, and came to Los Angeles with his family, since which time he has not been doing anything. He says he can give good references in San Francisco. The officer says there is no doubt that he is a burglar.

How to be a Good Hostess.
The secret of being a good hostess is in hiding the fact that you are making an effort to please. The houses which you like best to go are those where you feel at liberty to look over books and portfolios, where the pianos stand open, and there are easy chairs without elaborate cushions. In p paring for an evening party, if I expect to have games which involve real play, put away delicate bric-a-brac, so that no guest shall have the misfortune to spoil his evening by yours by an accident. Scatter pictures, books and single views at the sides of the room for the benefit of those unfortunate, the wallflowers. There should always be a corner set apart for those who do not dance, and this should be large enough for a table at which game may be played comfortably. Look after the shy girls and boys; this is one of the chief duties of the hostess. It is better to try to bring them into the general sport than to devote yourself to their amusement.

Ex-President Harrison spent Sunday at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York. In the afternoon Stephen B. Elkins called and remained several hours in Mr. Harrison's apartments. Both gentlemen claim the visit was a purely personal one and had no political significance.

LA FIESTA DE LOS ANGELES.

Although not much has yet been heard about the coming fiesta, preparatory work on the affair has been actively progressing, and it may already be considered a certainty that the third celebration will far eclipse its two predecessors.

In the financial field the committee has already secured four-fifths of the total sum that it is necessary to raise, and although the last fifth will be the hardest and requires the most work, there is very little doubt that it will be secured. Generally speaking, citizens have responded liberally, although there are some peculiar cases which will receive the attention of special committees later on. Some of these have grievances and allege the most extraordinary and illogical reasons for not doing their share, some of which would make "mighty interesting reading" if offered to the public.

The committee's floats are nearly completed, and are artistically far beyond anything that is to be seen anywhere west of New Orleans. A number of Southern California cities have practically agreed to have floats constructed for the night procession, "the Lands of the Sun," and it will be a brilliant and artistic affair. Preparations are under way in every field of the work, and although the committees are not as large as heretofore, but are working more quietly, without much publicity, the work is none the less being effectively done.

The features of the work that are of the most importance to local interest, the Publicity Committee has in hand. Advertisements have a total circulation of over a million and a half, and they have attracted wide-spread attention throughout the East. A series of syndicate letters, illustrated, prepared by the committee, are appearing in newspapers whose combined circulation is over ten million, including leading dailies like the Washington Post, Chicago News, New York Mail and Express, Kansas City Mail and others. These are attracting wide-spread attention, which is evidenced by the fact that the committee has been applied to by leading journals all over the country for special information, articles, photographs, etc., about the fiesta, and when it takes place Los Angeles will be written up in all the newspapers of the country. No such complete and comprehensive system of advertising was ever before attempted in Los Angeles, and for that matter it is to be questioned whether it has ever been done in behalf of any city of the Union, except in the case of enormous enterprises like the World's Fair.

While the committees are but human, and must of necessity make some mistakes, they are certainly proceeding with due caution, and may be depended upon to do their level best, but they cannot make the affair a success alone, and should have the co-operation and support of all classes of citizens, merely the financial support, which is expected as a matter of course, but also the moral support of a general approval of their efforts.

The average American citizen thinks that he shines brightest in the capacity of a critic. If fifty things are attempted in any enterprise, and forty-nine of them are successful, he is too often likely to center all his attention on the fiftieth, which may have some flaws, and hold forth on how much better he might have done it himself.

The City Council will today once more consider the question of letting a contract for the paving of Main street. As the Board of Public Works has at length decided to recommend one of the bids, it may be hoped that we are now nearer a definite conclusion than has been hitherto reached. As the Times has already stated, the property-owners on Main street are extremely anxious that there should be no further unnecessary delay in this matter, upon the conclusion of which depends also the electrifying of the street-car line. These two reforms together will mark a new era in the history of Main street, and it is not surprising that property-owners are irritated at the series of protracted delays that have kept back the work for over a year.

Mr. Marpole of Nelson, B. C., waited on the editor of the Tribune of that town to find out "who put that piece in the paper," and departed minus one of his little fingers, which Editor Houston bit off in the melee that followed. It would appear from this that the fighting editor was "in" at the time.

Even if the Herald has no large amount of commerce with the newsboys, it is sometimes polite to dissemble. The list for the purchase of a newsboy's home is still open for the contribution of that $1000, with which that paper undertook to bluff The Times.

The Lutheran minister who refused to pray for the members of the Virginia Legislature the other day, claiming that that body was not a fit subject for prayer, is evidently a man of wide experience and excellent judgment. Anyway, he knew that crowd, that is certain.

It is extremely gratifying to know that the approaching comet is not going to hit our mother earth with a dull thud. In fact, when it reaches for us we won't be there, but will be millions of miles away, if the science chaps are correct in their views. Lucky Earthlings!

On February 27 the South African Republic will, according to a Natal newspaper, declare its independence. The world will wait with impatience to see if the modern Thomas Jefferson swings as nifty a quill as did the old one.

The peace congress held in Philadelphia on Washington's birthday was extremely timely, coming so soon after the ninety-eight seconds' fight between the two bruisers on the edge of Mexico.

The Chicago Times-Herald claims that the golden hair is hanging down the back of the Quay Presidential boom. Never mind, it will get "shingled" all right enough.

If the old jaw-fight between Corbett and Fitzsimmons is to be continued then we are convinced that "the world is all a feeding show for man's illusion given."

The Buffalo Times says: "Most of woman's costliest and fanciest wearing apparel is out of sight." Now, how do you suppose the editor found that out?

February may be the shortest month, but it is the greatest month in America, because it contains the birthdays of Washington, the father of his country, and Lincoln, its savior.

The eastern papers are calling upon the public to go out and sprinkle salt on the snow-covered sidewalks. How different in Los Angeles!

El Paso will now import a few carloads of chloride of lime in order to disinfect the town of the atmosphere of sluggery.

Favorite sons are bobbing up around the country as thick as blackberries. But talk is cheap and McKinley is the man.

Bob Fitzsimmons did not like the bullfight, probably because the bulls couldn't talk, and talk, and talk.

The San Francisco Call says there is a girl in Pasadena who understands magazine poems. Name! name!

The Quay boom—but there isn't any such thing.

A Roar from Ventura.

(Ventura Free Press) Judging from the way politicians who "do politics" are endeavoring to "fix things" in this Congressional district, Los Angeles is to receive all the honors due the southern end of the state in the coming election. The "county" Sheldon is marked out as "sure winner" in the race for delegate at large to the national convention. James McPherson is to succeed himself as member of Congress, and the "county" counties so-called, are expected to smile and look pleasant. It is time that the politicians who "do politics" should be absolutely independent of the politicians who "do politics." There are plenty such to be found outside of Los Angeles county.

"Pittsburgh Phil" will dispose of all of his horses in training as soon as he can find purchasers for them.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

ATTRACTIONS TONIGHT. "The Fire Patrol," which is to be given this evening by May Nannery and her clever people at the Burbank Theater is a lively and realistic melodrama, replete with entertaining character roles and a number of striking scenic effects including a quick mill in full operation and a fire patrol wagon with a team of horses. The action of the play ranges from Deadwood, Dakota, to the north section of New York city and back again, and the story unfolds in a full of human interest. There are many bright comedy scenes, as well as those of a melodramatic turn, and the story ends with a happy denouement. Wednesday afternoon, Miss Nannery her company, the orchestra and all the other big-hearted and kindly attached of the Burbank Theater will be seen in the new playhouse on Wall street, full particulars regarding which have been appearing for several days past in The Times. This is a most laudable purpose, and both the generous theatrical people and the homeless waifs who trade in news and playhouse tickets, Money cannot be better spent.

"It's a good thing, push it along." Eugene O'Rourke, with John L. Sullivan and Fanny Ryan as drawing cards "on the side," comes to the Los Angeles Theater tonight in the Irish comedy "The Wicklow Postman," the engagement concluding tomorrow evening.

The Orpheum bill has a most engaging and attractive look this week, as will be seen by the list of attractions which comprise it. They are Walter Stanton, the giant man-rooster and of famous grotesque funny man, Laraine and Howell, heralded as unique novelty artists; Rachel Walker, the "Circus" singer, whose sweet singing has been delighting big audiences during the past week; Tina Covi, the charming comedienne and male impersonator; the Dow Witt sisters, musical comedienne and dancers. This it will be seen that the programme is varied and strong in personnel hence a big show all the week.

THE X RAYS.

What a Local Scientist Says of the Discovery.

A Los Angeles physician and surgeon, who has made a study of the subject, tells The Times that he doubts some assertions that have been made in dispatches regarding the feats accomplished by Röntgen's discovery. He said yesterday:

"Contrary to press dispatches the brain cannot be photographed by the use of the electric light passing through Crookes vacuum tubes. As bone is comparatively impervious to the X rays, as produced by the discovery of Prof. Röntgen of Wurzburg. Flesh, however, is translucent.

"A peculiarity of the X rays is that unlike other light rays the X rays do not penetrate glass, and where by accident glass may have penetrated the flesh it can be detected by the opaque mark where the X rays fall upon it. As bone is impervious to the X rays, and fur is very translucent, Prof. Wright of Yale College has been successful in photographing the skeleton of a rabbit; also of a hand. Metal is also impervious to the X rays, and the fact that the rays are so far as known, the first in America to make practical use of the Röntgen discovery by radiographing a bullet in a man's leg, the bullet being located between the two bones of the leg.

"Prof. Magie of Princeton College has invented an instrument for visual use in diagnosis, with the Röntgen rays. By the use of this instrument no camera is needed, and the picture is made by the use of a photographic plate, and as used by Röntgen. For instance, a bullet lodged somewhere in the fleshy part of a man's arm, and the location of the bullet between the two bones, can be located, and the surgeon can then very easily extract it, and the experiment of an ordinary tube can be made by any one out of cardboard, shaped to fit over the face. In this tube is placed a small photographic plate, and the light from the Röntgen tube, passing over his head, the tube pressed firmly against the arm. On the opposite side of the arm to be examined is the Crookes tube, which is conveying the Röntgen, or X rays, which penetrate the flesh, and cast a glow of light on the coated photographic plate. The rays are looking. The flesh being translucent and the bullet impervious to the rays, a shadow of the bullet is caused on the field of vision. The shadow is produced on the coated paper, or in other words, is radiographed, and its exact location is recognized.

"With Röntgen's experiments it took several hours to procure a picture. By later experiments a picture has been radiographed in a matter of minutes. The latest reports it appears that the investigators will soon be able to take instantaneous pictures.

"Another peculiarity of these X rays is that they are not visible to the human eye. Prof. Röntgen's discovery is a very important one to medical science.

THE CANDIDATES.

The Presidential Nomination is a Much-coveted Plum.

William McKinley is the Man of Destiny.

All the Candidates are Honest and Capable Men—Reed's Support is Not as Strong as His Friends Had Expected.

(CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, (D. C.) Feb. 14.—It is but four months before the Republicans in national convention will elect the man who is destined to occupy the Presidential chair for four years from March 4, 1897. Never at a similar time was the situation more interesting, and the excitement is increased by the announcement of the candidacy of Senator Quay of Pennsylvania.

Friends of other candidates insist that Senator Quay is playing a deep game to hold the Pennsylvania delegation in the national convention, and that he had the votes to elect him. The Pennsylvania delegation has never been known to vote for one in a national convention, and before the late "hog combine" it was claimed to be about equally divided between Reed and McKinley. It was charged that Reed had sanctioned it in order to secure the united delegation through Quay. Reed's supporters subject was mentioned. Now when Senator Quay's announcement is made they rush into print with statements that Quay is a "hog combine" and that he is a blind, and studiously give corresponding the impression that this is all in the real interest of the country. It is a fact that Reed had been made to which Quay was to control the delegation on Reed's behalf, the beneficiaries being the Republican party. It is a fact that Reed had been made to which Quay was to control the delegation on Reed's behalf, the beneficiaries being the Republican party. It is a fact that Reed had been made to which Quay was to control the delegation on Reed's behalf, the beneficiaries being the Republican party.

He is an unknown quantity; no one can tell just where his support will come from, outside of the Pennsylvania delegation. He is a Republican party and will poll a respectable vote in the convention, but whom he will draw it from is the question. It is a fact that Reed had been made to which Quay was to control the delegation on Reed's behalf, the beneficiaries being the Republican party. It is a fact that Reed had been made to which Quay was to control the delegation on Reed's behalf, the beneficiaries being the Republican party.

It is only two weeks since the news came flashing over the wires that Cyrus Edson, the famous New York physician, had discovered a remedy for that terrible disease, consumption. But already half a dozen Los Angeles people are using the preparation. It is a wonderful discovery, and how small the world has grown, that in two weeks from the announcement of its discovery, "Aseptolin-Edson" is being used in every city of any size in the land, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It has long been known that a weak and feeble body is more liable to catch and destruction for all unwholesome germs which it encountered. Various attempts have been made to destroy these germs by the use of medicine. Carbolic acid is found in the human blood, and when nature is making an effort to overcome germ diseases, the quantity is increased. Various attempts have been made to help nature by artificially increasing the quantity of carbolic acid in the blood. But it must never be taken by the mouth.

Dr. Edson made a solution containing about 3 per cent of absolute phenol and .01 per cent of a picrocarbin salt (picrocarbin-phenol-hydroxide), formula, C<sub>11</sub>H<sub>16</sub>N<sub>2</sub>O<sub>2</sub>·OH, C<sub>6</sub>H<sub>5</sub>·S. It is a powerful antiseptic, and increases the natural antiseptic power of the blood. But it must never be taken by the mouth.

When a patient is suffering from phthisis, the treatment is begun with a small dose of from 50 to 70 minims. This dose is increased 10 minims a day until 100 minims are given, and may be increased to 150. The injection is made into the abdominal parietes or into the muscles of the back under the scapulae.

Several Los Angeles physicians are experimenting with the new remedy. They have used it, now, only five or six days, and it is of course impossible as yet to say definitely whether it will be of avail against the dreaded disease-germs. Some of the patients declare that they feel better already, and this may perhaps be ascribed as much to imagination as to anything else.

When the druggist who was the first to import aseptolin was asked his opinion of its value, he shrugged his shoulders. He said that he had bought it merely as a matter of business, and to supply the anticipated demand. But he added that the very fact that Edson had aseptolin all ready for the market, the directions and advertising circulars, etc., all prepared the day after the announcement, all this made it look very much as if Edson's attitude were not wholly that of a heartless and unfeeling man who cared for nothing whatever except his own scientific pursuits, but had something in it of the patent-medicine man, with a keen eye for the main chance. All in all, said the druggist, it is not best to believe in a remedy that will destroy the consumption, a doomed disease, stripped of all its terrors and made as comparatively harmless as an attack of the mumps.

"The New Patriotism."

There were services at the Church of the Holy Trinity yesterday evening for the dedication of a handsome national flag, given to the Sunday-school by C. W. R. Ford. The sermon's theme was "The New Patriotism in America." Throughout the whole evening the spirit of patriotism prevailed. In the sermon the prayers and the music there breathed the one sentiment of love of country. The audience all together made the solemn vow: "We pledge our heads and our hearts to God and our country. One country, one language, and one flag."

This being true, the tariff is the only issue that can be made, except the silver question, upon which Republicans are much more nearly in accord than the Democrats, and both parties are too greatly divided to make it an issue, and it will strike the floating delegates as peculiarly appropriate that the author of the McKinley bill should be selected to make the fight upon the question of restoring its principles upon the basis of the United States.

Upon the Democratic side, President Cleveland, ex-Governor Pattison of Pennsylvania, Secretary Carlisle and William McKinley are the only men as yet spoken of. The only one who wants it is the last named, and he thinks a race would enable him to get off the shelf where he has lain so long, and notify the country that he still lives. There will be a silver convention held in the Democratic hall, but who will be selected for chief mourner is problematical.

McKinley's prospects are much brighter than a week ago, in spite of Senator Quay's candidacy, which naturally affects him to some extent, as it deprives him of votes that he would have received in Pennsylvania. But his interests in the Northwest are progressing more favorably than was expected.

Mayor Pingree of Detroit was here a short time ago and gave out an invitation which was sent throughout the country in which he warmly invited a considerable majority of the Michigan voters.

The Republican party that has materialized in Michigan so far, consists of Mayor Pingree and one of his friends, Major C. W. Watkins, editor of the Grand Rapids Herald, and both are talking about the matter, said "Michigan is overwhelmingly for William McKinley. Out of twenty-eight votes it is safe to say that he will get at least twenty. I only know of two Reed votes in the State. They are in Detroit. The bulk of the delegation will be for McKinley. We regard him as the logical candidate of the party, and there is no doubt that he has the confidence and good will of the vast majority of Michigan voters." Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan, with every indication of a solid delegation, will have a powerful voice in the national convention.

have talked with men from all sections and it can be stated with entire confidence that McKinley is second choice in every State that Reed will carry, and that the strongest hold that the Speaker has upon the minds of the States outside of Maine, is that he is a New England man. This being the case, should they decide to elect McKinley, a change to McKinley will not be difficult. I do not mean to belittle Speaker Reed's strength. He will go to a national convention with a good vote, but not nearly so large as his friends have expected, and it will be augmented but little, for the reason that McKinley has second choice with the supporters of every other candidate, including Reed, while Allison is not so well known in power with McKinley's supporters. There are no doubtful States to be placated this year and the most serious consideration that has heretofore affected the result will not therefore be necessary.

"WATCH AND PRAY."

chart by the speaker) is of fungus growth, one-sided and almost leafless. It springs up in nearly every community and social organization. Up into the clouds of the cross already falling upon Him, uttered those memorable words. There is an element of audacity about them. In an ordinary mortal they would be considered foolhardy. But take the influence of Jesus on men, on human history, since His death and resurrection, and you touch a theme so vast, so profound, so thrilling, that we cannot adequately appreciate it.

Note, second, the secret of Christ's power to draw all men unto Himself. It is not the character of Christ merely that is the secret of this drawing power, nor yet His words and works. It is His own sublime self-sacrifice; it is the cross. Yet it remains for us to explain this more fully. Why should not those other two crosses that stood on Calvary have like power? Three things, it seems to us, the cross of Christ stands for: 1. It stands for a voluntary and vicarious, albeit an ignominious death. 2. His cross stands for the exhibition of the sublimest unselfishness. 3. But back of this unselfishness, back of this voluntary and vicarious death, and perhaps, after all, the real secret of its marvelous attractive power, its supreme, unparalleled, personable love.

In conclusion, Rev. Heiler said: "If Christ is to draw all men unto Himself He must be made known to all. The world is waiting for that drawing power to be placed into our hands."

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

More railroad franchise controversies are in sight at Riverside. The importance of the business of that city has prompted sharp competition for desirable depot sites.

Redlands has won baseball honors by defeating some crack players of Los Angeles. If this sort of thing continues, that little town will have a bad case of big head.

Orange county orange-growers are already laying the foundation for an import duty on oranges, and are now attacking our United States Senators on the subject. There is nothing like beginning in time.

Orange-growers on the peninsula of Lower California are cutting down their trees and planting their acres with coffee, sugar-cane and cotton. The low prices for Mexican oranges for several years have discouraged these growers. Cotton grows well along the coast. Plants four or five years old appear to bear as well as younger plants. The mildness of the climate affords few, if any, killing frosts.

San Diego has some claims to cosmopolitanism. A mining engineer sailed from that port recently on a Chinese junk commanded by a Dutch captain, to examine a Mexican mine for an English company, and on the trip the Irish cook drank up all the Scotch whisky, the African deck-hand was nearly drowned by falling overboard, while a Portuguese sailor supplied the party with fresh fish.

The fond hope entertained by some that the recent knock-out of a notorious "pug" in Mexico would result in a cessation of pugilistic chatter, is evidently destined to be one of those iridescent things that gladden the heart of a man, and later, when they glide away, like the "baseless fabric of a dream," fill him with a subtle and profound grief. The talking pugilist will, doubtless, like the poor, be always with us.

The colored individual who hawks the eastern newspaper along Spring street from day to day is becoming a nuisance to dwellers on that thoroughfare. His fog-horn voice drowns the fire alarm, and by this time has probably awakened the seven sleepers who are feeling around to find out what's up. As the people who block away are not likely to rush out to buy papers, it might be well for the police to advise the young man to modulate his voice a little. It would also be well to give the bells on the street cars a chance to be heard.

With some flourish of trumpets the Los Angeles High School alumni several months ago announced their purpose of founding a university scholarship for the benefit of deserving High School graduates. The silence that has since prevailed on the part of the scheme promoters may be of the traditional golden sort and indicative of satisfactory success, but a substantial report of progress made would no doubt be welcomed by those who have neglected to forget that such an estimable project was ever started.

The men who have begun building a $150,000 brewery at San Diego propose to include in their plant a glass factory for the manufacture of beer bottles. Their efforts will be watched with interest. After careful investigation they find sand suitable for this glass business. With the variety of sands obtainable in Southern California it does seem as if the best quality of glass in the world could be produced in this section. The beginning of the glass industry, even with so lowly a product as that of beer bottles, may lead to more auspicious realizations in the glass business later on.

The howling mountebanks continue their nightly travesty on religion in the busiest portion of Spring street, blocking the sidewalks, and otherwise making nuisances of themselves. The police, so zealous a couple of weeks ago, should not weary so early in well-doing. The city's thoroughfares should be kept clear if it takes every man on the force; besides, the people living on Spring street have a right to a reasonable amount of quiet on Sunday nights, as well as on all other nights, and they are crying for relief from the present condition of things, which is unseemly, disgusting and disgraceful to the municipality.

PROPHET OR IMPOSTOR?

A Mormon Elder Declares Joseph Smith an Inspired Man.

There were Mormon services at No. 245 South Spring street yesterday. Elder J. D. Irvine spoke on the subject, "Joseph Smith, Prophet or Impostor?" He said that Joseph Smith claimed that, on account of the confusion and conflict in the religious world, he was led, in the year 1820, to inquire of the Lord which of all the sects was right; that while praying in the woods, a light descended upon him, in which were two personages—the Father and the Son, and that in answer to his inquiries, the Savior told him to join none of them, as they had all good astray, and that, as foretold by the prophets, He was about to establish His church and that Mr. Smith would, if faithful, be instrumental in restoring the primitive gospel.

Mr. Smith affirmed that he received the record containing the history of the ancient inhabitants of this continent from the Angel Moroni; and, in connection with others, received the Aaronic priesthood from John the Baptist, the Melchizedek priesthood from Peter, James and John, the ancient apostles; and special keys and powers from Elias, Moses and Elijah; thus clothing him with full authority to introduce the dispensation of the fullness of times.

Although an unschooled boy, and without a knowledge of the religious theories of his day, yet Joseph Smith was instrumental in establishing a work that is in perfect accord with all the prophecies that refer to this dispensation. Every officer placed in the organization perfected by the Savior and His apostles, is found in this church every principle, law and ordinance performed by the primitive Christians is found here; the gifts promised to the convert by the Savior are enjoyed by Mormon church members (more than other professing Christians can say) and Mormons are despised and persecuted as the early Christians were.

Joseph Smith uttered a great many prophecies, a number of which have been fulfilled. In 1832 he foretold the war of the rebellion, saying it would begin in South Carolina and would terminate in the death and misery of many souls. In 1843 Mr. Smith told Stephen A. Douglas that he would aspire to the Presidency, and if he ever turned his hand against the Latter Day Saints (which he did) he would feel the weight of the hand of the Almighty upon him. Of his candidly, bright prospects, unexpected defeat, and subsequent death, nothing need be said. The nation's history records the fulfillment of the prophecies.

The speaker said that no one who will make an impartial and prayerful investigation of these matters can doubt that Joseph Smith was a prophet of God. The Savior said: "As it was the days of Noah, so shall it be at the coming of the Son of Man," and, verily, it looks as though His words would be fulfilled.

COUNCIL FORECAST.

Business to Receive the Attention of the Council.

There is not a great amount of business to pass through the Council hopper today and unless something unexpected develops during the session the proceedings of the city fathers will be devoid of startling features.

The delegation of Councilmen that has represented the city government of Los Angeles at Phoenix, Ariz., will be returned by this morning, and it is not improbable that some new ideas in the way of managing a municipal government, gleaned from observation in the metropolis of Arizona, will be sprung today by those of the Council Solons who have been in attendance at the recent festivities in Phoenix.

The contract to pave Main street is expected to be awarded today, the Board of Public Works having prepared a report recommending the acceptance of the bid of J. T. Long to do the work. The report at present has affixed to it the signatures of President and all the members of the board, and Chairman Munson, though Councilman Pessell is known to be in favor of such a report, and will doubtless sign it this morning. There is no doubt but that the report will be adopted by the Council, although Councilman Kingery has expressed in the past his opposition to the commendation contained in the report.

The Sewer Committee has not as yet made a recommendation in the matter of the garbage contract bids, although the present contract expired last Thursday. It is possible that the committee will meet today and decide upon a report to the Council in the matter.

John Drain's petition to be relieved from the street sweeping inspection duties recently placed upon him by the Council, is in the hands of the Finance Committee, which may prepare a report in the matter today.

TWO JOHN SULLIVANS.

One of Them is in Jail—A Remarkable Coincidence.

John L. Sullivan, the world-renowned slugger, will arrive in Los Angeles today. A namesake of his who is somewhat of a slugger himself has been here for some time and is now in the County Jail. Strange to say, this John Sullivan, like his illustrious prototype, gained notoriety by having a fight with a man named Paddy Ryan. The battle took place at Santa Monica, but, unlike the former Sullivan-Ryan mill, Sullivan got the worst of it, and was badly hurt by being hit over the head with a beer bottle. As if this was not punishment enough for disturbing the peace and quiet of Santa Monica, Sullivan was arrested and sentenced to the County Jail for ten days.

His term of imprisonment began Sunday a week ago, but he was not in jail long before it became apparent that poor Sullivan's brain was affected by the blow from the beer bottle. One of the County Hospital surgeons made an examination of the wound and decided that the proper place for Sullivan was in the hospital. Accordingly the prisoner was loaded in the hospital van at 1:30 o'clock Saturday morning, and accompanied by a hospital doctor, started on his journey across the river. The van had not proceeded far before Sullivan jumped out and made his escape. Half an hour later a police officer found him wandering about in his stocking feet and bareheaded. When he saw the officer he said:

"I'm glad you came, for they're after me. They've killed two men already, and would have killed me, too, if you hadn't come."

The officer saw that the man was either drunk or crazy, so he rang up the patrol wagon and sent him to the station, where he was kept till morning when he was returned to the County Jail, where he yet languishes in durandio and is crazy as a bedbug. He would be dressed daily by a hospital surgeon and if his mental condition does not improve, he will be sent to Highland at the expiration of his ten days' imprisonment.

CYCLING AT CORONADO.

An Added Attraction at California's Favorite Resort.

The recently paved boulevard extending from the ferry landing to Hotel del Coronado is pronounced the best in America for pleasure-seekers. Level as a floor, lined with beautiful palms, flowers and pines, and reaching from bay to ocean, it is without a rival for cycling and driving. All good astray, and that, as foretold by the prophets, He was about to establish His church and that Mr. Smith would, if faithful, be instrumental in restoring the primitive gospel.

Mr. Smith affirmed that he received the record containing the history of the ancient inhabitants of this continent from the Angel Moroni; and, in connection with others, received the Aaronic priesthood from John the Baptist, the Melchizedek priesthood from Peter, James and John, the ancient apostles; and special keys and powers from Elias, Moses and Elijah; thus clothing him with full authority to introduce the dispensation of the fullness of times.

Although an unschooled boy, and without a knowledge of the religious theories of his day, yet Joseph Smith was instrumental in establishing a work that is in perfect accord with all the prophecies that refer to this dispensation. Every officer placed in the organization perfected by the Savior and His apostles, is found in this church every principle, law and ordinance performed by the primitive Christians is found here; the gifts promised to the convert by the Savior are enjoyed by Mormon church members (more than other professing Christians can say) and Mormons are despised and persecuted as the early Christians were.

Joseph Smith uttered a great many prophecies, a number of which have been fulfilled. In 1832 he foretold the war of the rebellion, saying it would begin in South Carolina and would terminate in the death and misery of many souls. In 1843 Mr. Smith told Stephen A. Douglas that he would aspire to the Presidency, and if he ever turned his hand against the Latter Day Saints (which he did) he would feel the weight of the hand of the Almighty upon him. Of his candidly, bright prospects, unexpected defeat, and subsequent death, nothing need be said. The nation's history records the fulfillment of the prophecies.

The speaker said that no one who will make an impartial and prayerful investigation of these matters can doubt that Joseph Smith was a prophet of God. The Savior said: "As it was the days of Noah, so shall it be at the coming of the Son of Man," and, verily, it looks as though His words would be fulfilled.

Business to Receive the Attention of the Council.

There is not a great amount of business to pass through the Council hopper today and unless something unexpected develops during the session the proceedings of the city fathers will be devoid of startling features.

The delegation of Councilmen that has represented the city government of Los Angeles at Phoenix, Ariz., will be returned by this morning, and it is not improbable that some new ideas in the way of managing a municipal government, gleaned from observation in the metropolis of Arizona, will be sprung today by those of the Council Solons who have been in attendance at the recent festivities in Phoenix.

The contract to pave Main street is expected to be awarded today, the Board of Public Works having prepared a report recommending the acceptance of the bid of J. T. Long to do the work. The report at present has affixed to it the signatures of President and all the members of the board, and Chairman Munson, though Councilman Pessell is known to be in favor of such a report, and will doubtless sign it this morning. There is no doubt but that the report will be adopted by the Council, although Councilman Kingery has expressed in the past his opposition to the commendation contained in the report.

The Sewer Committee has not as yet made a recommendation in the matter of the garbage contract bids, although the present contract expired last Thursday. It is possible that the committee will meet today and decide upon a report to the Council in the matter.

ORANGE COUNTY.

A YOUNG COUPLE MARRIED UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

Senator Perkins Tells of His Efforts to Secure Protection for Southern California Orange-growers' Notes and Personalities.

SANTA ANA, Feb. 23.—(Regular Correspondence.) Josia Platt and Miss Laura Harnischfeger of Los Angeles were married on Washington's birthday, but not without considerable difficulty. In the first place the young couple started for this city from Los Angeles with a Los Angeles county marriage license, expecting to get some one here to tie the nuptial knot for them, but when they arrived they found that the Los Angeles county credentials were no good here, and that an Orange county license would have to be procured. Then their trouble began. The day was a legal holiday, and County Clerk Brock and his deputies were of course enjoying their opportunity to have a day off from the tedious cares of the office. No one could be found who was empowered to grant them a new license, and the last day for Los Angeles for that day had returned. It was too late to think of walking back to Los Angeles to drive for that matter, and the indications for getting hold of any one here who had the authority to get them out of their dilemma were indeed very poor. But after considerable skirmishing around, during which Deputy County Recorder Peters was unseated, a way out of their trouble was found. Mr. Peters gave the young people the benefit of his assistance, and Deputy County Clerk Beckett's consent to the issuance of the greatly desired license was secured by telephone from his country residence. This obtained, the license was forthwith and by at 10 o'clock p. m. Justice of the Peace Freeman was called to the Brunswick Hotel to perform the ceremony, which he did in his usual dignified and impressive manner. Mr. and Mrs. Platt are still sojourning at the Brunswick, and are to all appearances as happy as if the Los Angeles county license had been used.

DUTY ON ORANGES.

The question of an import duty on oranges is now, and has been for several years, attracting considerable attention in all Southern California among the orange-growers. The growers of this country have been talking and working particularly on this matter recently, and the effect of their work is beginning to show itself at Washington and elsewhere. H. K. Snow of Tustin, on behalf of the Tustin Fruit Association, recently wrote a letter to United States Senator Perkins, at Washington, relative to this matter, and that gentleman's answer, which was received by Mr. Snow a few weeks ago, contains encouraging information. The letter is, in part, as follows:

"Your remarks in relation to an import duty upon oranges and lemons have my careful consideration, and I fully concur in the views you express. It is an important matter to the people of our country, and especially of California—should be placed at such a disadvantage in raising citrus fruits, as you pertinently say, costs you 50 per cent. more freight to place your fruit in the eastern markets than it does oranges from Italy and the islands of the Mediterranean; that labor and the expense of raising acidulous fruit is much greater in this country than it is where our principal competitors, oranges, lemons and other fruit, are raised. It is not to be expected that the growers should not be protected by a duty, and, at the same time, produce a revenue for the support of our government. Notwithstanding that I am in full accord with the sentiments that you express, I would not advise you to carry out your wishes in any sacrifice for two reasons:

"First, from a desire to serve you and the people of California who are engaged in this industry; and secondly, because I believe in the principle of political economy which it embraces. I regret exceedingly that I am not in a position to accomplish anything in the way of granting you the relief which you desire during the present Congress. As you are aware, a bill prepared by the Committee on Ways and Means in the House of Representatives, called an Emergency Revenue Bill, it is estimated that it will produce an additional revenue of about $40,000,000 annually, and as the government is running behind that amount, it is inclined to bridge this deficiency until the next Congress, when we hope to have a Republican administration and a majority in both the Senate and House of Representatives.

"I have presented the subject matter of your letter to the Finance Committee in the Senate, and they have offered a resolution increasing the duty upon sugar 15 per cent. ad valorem. I did this for the purpose of fostering the beet-sugar industry of the Southern California, as well as to bring into the treasury of the government about four millions additional revenue; but it is hardly possible that any such measure will be adopted, as the representatives of nearly every State have some special measure that they would like to favor, and the committee claim, and the Republican caucus, in a measure assent to that, if they are permitted to do so, it will not be possible to relieve the country from its financial embarrassment.

"I, therefore, regret exceedingly that I am unable to give you more encouragement upon the subject matter in which you are so deeply interested. I will, however, closely watch the measure, and if it is possible to do anything, you can rest assured that no effort will be spared on my part to accomplish your wishes.

"Very truly yours,
"GEORGE C. PERKINS."

While Senator Perkins regrets that he is not able to give Mr. Snow and the orange-growers of Southern California more encouragement at the present time in the matter of an import duty on oranges, he seems confident that with a Republican administration, which the nation will, no doubt, be under in the near future, relief will come to the growers of citrus fruits in the United States.

AN HONOR TO THE STATE.

Sergeant Hatfield of the defunct Company G, N.G.C., of Anaheim, is, by his superior manliness, surely an honor to the State of California. A recent issue of one of the Anaheim papers has the following to say about him:

"Capt. Gilbert Hatfield was in from Buena Park yesterday to procure a physician's certificate of the illness of Sergeant Hatfield, who has been in bed since last Saturday with a bad attack of pneumonia, and whose presence is desired at Sacramento to participate in the State militia shoot for the diamond trophy offered by the Commonwealth for the best marksman. Hatfield scored 93 out of a possible 100 at the State's target practice, and is the only man in the brigade scoring a percentage high enough to entitle him to shoot for the diamond trophy. Only eighteen men in the State have qualified to enter competition for this trophy. Sergeant Hatfield being the only one of the thousand militiamen in Southern California to attain that distinction. His illness is unfortunate, and will prevent his attendance at Sacramento. Capt. Landell will endeavor to get permission to have him shoot here when he recovers."

WHEELMEN'S MASKED BALL.

The masquerade ball given under the auspices of the Orange County Wheelmen at Spurgeon's Hall Friday evening was attended by an enthusiastic crowd of young people. Mr. and Mrs. L. Goepfer led the grand march. Among those present were the following: "Miss 'sunrise'"; Miss Nellie Ethelwyn Houtz, "little school girl"; Miss Jennie Corbett, "dairy maid"; William McCullough, "a social wreck or American aristocrat"; William Corwin, "policeman"; Burr Woodhouse, "clown"; Z. J. Taylor, "Turk"; Miss Mamie North, "Spanish dancing girl"; Miss Susie Waller of Tustin, "gypsy maiden"; C. Reed of Pasadena, "sport"; H. Houtz, "Florence"; Frank Drury, "Orange County Herald"; Mrs. Belle Buck, "queen of hearts"; R. F. Vegeley, "Turk"; Nolan Houtz, "typical new woman"; John Golden hanging down her back; Miss Lorena Inman, "night"; Ed Bradley, "clown"; H. E. Bundy, "clown"; and many others.

Santa Ana sent a special train, consisting of four coaches, loaded with human freight, over Santa Fe Railroad Saturday afternoon, for the purpose of attending the laying of the corner-stone of the new Santa Fe Hotel in Los Angeles.

Judge John Lane of Garden Grove is trying seriously ill at his country residence west of the city. He is expected to recover, but his present condition is precarious.

Spencer and family of Madison, Wis., were in Orange county the fore part of last week, and while here were the guests of Mr. Clarke and family of Pasadena.

Tom R. Smith, a young man from Pennsylvania, who has been almost every year for the past five or six years, has returned once more and this time to stay.

W. H. Hines, agent of La Habra Valley, near Fullerton, is preparing to plant out a large number of citrus trees.

The Anaheim Union Water Company has replaced its old superintendent at a salary of $100 per month.

Miss Ella Powell has returned to her Los Angeles home after a visit of several weeks with Mrs. G. A. Harlin and other friends in Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Kiehn, who have been visiting friends and relatives in Santa Ana, have returned to their home in Redlands.

REDLANDS.

Two Receptions Close the Washington Celebration.

REDLANDS, Feb. 23.—(Regular Correspondence.) The celebration of Washington's birthday closed with two receptions.

At the Casa Loma Hotel there was an orchestra music. The beautiful rooms and halls of the new hotel were ablaze with electric lights, while hundreds of people marched through the building admiring the interior for the first time and congratulating Col. Ritchey on the successful completion of the structure.

A Martha Washington reception and dance at the Academy of Music, given by the Junior Mechanics as a fitting close of their exercises, drew the largest party of the evening.

At 12:30 the last Santa Fe train left and at 12:45 a Southern Pacific train took out the last party over that road.

A feature of the day, which was not mentioned in the regular correspondence, is the display of fruit in the Chamber of Commerce building. The fruit companies have made a magnificent display, while many individuals sent in choice fruit of various kinds.

ORANGE PRICES RAISED.

A conference of the various orange-packers has resulted in the restoration of the rate of $2.50 per crate, and a special meeting of the packers has decided that the price is the lowest rate for the balance of the season. It is believed that there will be no difficulty in raising the price to $3.00 per crate, but as an offset it is doubtful if there will be much fruit to sell. The price of the fruit is now at its best, but will undoubtedly continue to decline in that condition so late as ordinarily.

CASE OF JIM JAMES.

V. Craig Takes a Walk in His Night Clothes.

Pedestrians on Spring street between 10 and 11 o'clock last evening were astonished at seeing a man strolling leisurely along with nothing on except a flannel night shirt, which reached only to his knees, and a coat, the sleeves of which he had tied around his waist, wearing the rest of it like an apron.

Several hundred people of both sexes, returning from a spiritualist meeting, saw the strange apparition, and some of the more credulous thought it was the materialization of some departed spirit. The majority, however, saw that the apok consisted of real flesh and blood, and the men followed the almost nude stranger out of curiosity, while the more timid females fled precipitately.

Officer Powle came along directly and arrested the man. He gave the name of V. Craig, and said he was foreman of the California Warehouse Company. When asked where his clothes were he said he had left them at the warehouse and had walked from a place fifteen miles out in the country to get them.

The police diagnosed Craig's case as insanity, while the more timid females fled precipitately.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY.

AN ENGLISH GUNBOAT RAN ASHORE IN THE BAY.

Humiliating Predicament of a British Skipper Witnessed from the United States Vessels—The Fortuna Gold Mine—News Notes.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 23.—(Regular Correspondence.) The pleasure of this beautiful morning has been somewhat marred by the stupidity of a British naval captain in running his ship ashore between Ballast Point and the quarantine station. It is a little tub of a gunboat called the Comet, of only 230 tons measurement, or only about one-half the size of some of Uncle Sam's war vessels already at anchor. It must be humiliating spectacle for English naval men to contemplate as they observe one of their officers in broad daylight, with a channel that is deep and well defined, push the nose of his craft into the mud and stick there in sight of the United States squadron and of the entire city. This captain may have been in a desperate situation to offer, but the fact remains that his ship in ground and there is seemingly no earthly need of her being in that predicament. SAN DIEGO, Feb. 23.—The British cruiser Comet, enroute to Escondido, ran aground on the beach here this morning. Her captain, declared the services of a pilot and attempted to enter the harbor unaided. He mistook the channel and when the stern of the ship struck the beach, the Comet was holed. The ship was holed and the crew was rescued. The ship was holed and the crew was rescued. The ship was holed and the crew was rescued.

VENTURA COUNTY.

Militia Field Day Sports—A Check on the Farmers.

VENTURA, Feb. 23.—(Regular Correspondence.) Washington's birthday was generally observed in this city. The majority of the business houses closed at noon, and the bulk of the pleasure-seekers spent the afternoon in the park, watching the athletic programme provided by the militia boys from Companies E and H. Seventy Regiments, who were the champions for the championship in sharp-shooting and field games. Company H of Ventura, commanded by Capt. A. W. Brown, won the rifle shoot in the morning by three points, this victory giving them the trophy cup. ## SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY.

NO GRAIN WILL BE RAISED IN THE INTERIOR.

The Price of Hay is Going Up in Consequence—Late News from the Virginia Dale Mining District. Local Political Situation.

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 23.—(Regular Correspondence.) L. A. Boyer of this place has just returned from the Virginia Dale mining district and confirms the many rumors of a coming boom. While on his return he met eight parties numbering twenty men on their way to the district, and reports parties arriving all the time. The dipsey mine is running a one-stamp mill which pays for all development work. In the Carlsbad mine a shaft is down 150 feet and is in ten feet of ore. A tunnel 650 feet long has uncovered ore for 200 feet. Almost every mine is being developed, and he and his associates are preparing to sink a shaft at once to a depth of 100 feet. He brings with him several specimens of ore for assay which looks well.

CITY POLITICS.

Instead of the efforts to secure a representative of the interior valleys in the Board of Trustees having died out, it seems to have been more determined than ever to have the recent mass-meeting captured as it appeared by the militia boys from Company H of Ventura, commanded by Capt. A. W. Brown, won the rifle shoot in the morning by three points, this victory giving them the trophy cup.

To advertise or not to advertise—
That is the question.
Whether 'tis nobler in a business man
to suffer
The loss and slowness of unbought
bargains,
Or, by advertising, sell them.
There's the nightmare of neglected opportunity
Of space unoccupied in the daily press—
That might enrich the merchant's pocket.
By emptying his pithoric shelves—
All these, and other things to prize,
Should lead the wise to advertise.

Patriotism at Glendale.

The Glendale school was not behind in celebrating the birthday of the father of our country. This year Prof. French and Miss Backus, teachers, entertained themselves to give a pleasant entertainment last Friday afternoon. The school rooms were handsomely decorated with national colors, plants and flowers. The Grand Army Post of Glendale and Tropic were invited as honored guests of the school for this entertainment, which consisted of recitations and music by the school. Presentations on part of the Glendale members of the G. A. R. Post of a fine hand-silk flag to the school. Prof. French, the school, three large engravings of Washington, Lincoln and Grant; also, a new 9x18 school flag. The entertainment was a credit to the efforts of the teachers, and scholars heartily enjoyed by all none more so than by the gray-haired veterans of the rebellion. This day will be remembered as once that the 22nd of February was observed in a most fitting manner by the Glendale school.

THE NEW WOMAN.

Dr. Carlos Martin Speaks in Her Behalf.

The Advanced Woman as She Ought to Be.

Reasons Why She Should Be Given the Franchise—Power She Might Exercise in the Body Politic.

Dr. Carlos Martin, the lecturer on "Christian Citizenship," gave a graphic portrayal of one phase of the question yesterday, in his lecture upon the much-discussed subject of the "New Woman." Temperance Temple was filled with interested listeners of both sexes, and frequent applause interrupted the speaker as he scored one good point after another in his sensible and fair discussion of a question which is usually the target for the most inflammable utterances of the cranks who rush to extremes both for and against woman's suffrage.

Dr. Martin's idea of the new woman is not a slangy edition of young America, who imitates the fashions and vices of her brother, but a woman at home with the new feelings; aglow with the new hopes, sober with the new responsibilities; broadened with the new experiences, and healthy with the new activities of this last decade of the nineteenth century. This is the real new woman; the old woman is a new and enlarged environment.

The radical ideas of the lecturer extend to approval of the much-maligned bloomers, as a much more sensible dress for out-door locomotion than the ordinary gown, which restricts the body as a Chinese woman's feet are cramped in accordance with the Oriental idea of elegance.

In former times, when women were regarded as live bric-a-brac, and their lives were bounded by the four walls of the house, when they were taught that it was lady-like to be a stationary article for men to write love letters to, the classic draperies and civilities and the ideas of the age. But now, with the adoption by modern women of out-door habits and occupations, the clinging garments become a nuisance to be abated. The physiological value of woman's widened horizon is marked by the fact that a hot-house plant or a chronic invalid, as in the days when she was mirrored in the bygone novels as fainting decorously with or without occasion merely because it was the natural expression of the old, indoor, artificial mode of life.

The new woman glories in her strength and health, and delights in fresh air and exercise. She has discarded the grapevine theory of womanhood, and is competent to stand on her own feet, and prefer the head on her own shoulders to the time-honored idea that "the head of the woman is the man's." The new woman wants nothing but a husband, after that, everything; the new woman wants everything, a husband included, and gets it.

Until recently, woman played fox to man's lion. The word "virgin" might be derived from the Latin "vir," a man, and the old English word "gin," a trap, meaning literally a "man-trap." Nowadays, women, without despising matrimony, are sorely conscious of their ability, if need be, to exist without it.

Let the old-fashioned folk who look with terror upon the apparition of the new woman, possess their souls in patience. It will be found that the new woman is only a bold one in a new environment, with enlarged ideas and a freer freedom of action. The home will survive. Sweetheartship, marriage and motherhood, all will survive, for these things are grounded in the nature of woman, and no outward changes can revolutionize the feminine function or the feminine disposition. Nature will keep the new woman well within her orbit, whatever the first outward appearances.

Ours is the age of larger, freer life. It were absurd to imagine that, in such an era, woman alone would remain unaffected by the universal trend. Even as Luther thought the devil was not entitled to all the good times, so woman has decided to take her share of the good times which convention has hitherto decreed to belong to man alone. It is only the infraction of convention that startles the timid folk. The new order of things will presently become so natural that people will wonder how bygone times ever tolerated anything else, just as they now wonder how their ancestors ever got along without railroads, steamships, the telegraph and the electric light.

Warmed to his subject, Dr. Martin said that three facts with regard to woman are now seen to be self-evident. First, man and woman are equal. To assume from a quip of old writers that "God did not take woman from man's head that she might top him; nor from his feet that he might trample upon her; but from his side that she might be his equal, from under his arm, that he might protect her, and from next his heart, that she might be his other and dearer self." But, though equal, man and woman are different, each shut up to characteristic functions and duties which, being natural and inalienable, are not interchangeable.

The second fact is, that there are many duties and activities which are essentially neutral in gender, lying on the "debatable ground," and assigned by custom to man or woman, as the case may be; and the third, that, as civilization advances, it becomes more complex, and bread-winning is more difficult, exacting and engrossing. Unhappily, this operates against marriage.

When a man can barely support himself, he naturally fears to undertake the maintenance of a family. Consequently, woman, unprovided for in marriage, is thrown upon her own resources for a livelihood. In some States, women predominate, and there are not enough husbands to go around. Under the circumstances, what are they to do? The exigencies of life thrust them forth from home. They cannot be housewives, school teachers or needle women, and thoughtful men and women are now demanding that many of those duties and activities which have hitherto been arbitrarily allotted to man, shall be thrown open to woman also. In compliance with this demand, the overworked and starved ranks of womanhood, imprisoned by the absurd and cruel prejudices of the past, in two or three occasions, are being depleted in our day by an exodus into other attractive spheres of labor. The broadening of the list of these has relieved the congestion, and the moral health of the community is correspondingly improved.

Having thus entered into so many new fields of labor, partly from necessity and partly because of the new and free spirit of modern times, the new woman now demands the ballot. Well, why not? She forms the larger half, and, by common consent, the better half, the conscience half, of civil society. Why enfranchise the male half and disfranchise the female half? Woman owns and manages estates, pays taxes, sits on the witness stand, is sent to jail and goes to the gallows. If she is competent to do these things, she should be competent to vote. The founders of this republic recognized the fact that rights are only privileges unless they are provided with adequate defense, and put into the hands of every male citizen the palladium of liberty. They declared that no man or class of men should be left dependent upon any other man or class of men. This is the American doctrine; the open secret of our magnificent history for a century and a quarter. It is undeniable that woman also is entitled to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, and why should she depend upon another rather than upon herself for the defense of her God-given rights?

The truth is that woman was excluded from the franchise at the behest of inherited prejudice; the pagan conception was that she was a mere adjunct of man, either married or to be married. Medieval and modern times borrowed this conception from paganism. The woman was a mere annex. Man represented her, and abused and fondled her by turns, and at will. The whole legislation of the world is nothing but a commentary on this theory—the woman nothing, the man everything. What she was she was through him.

The new woman, with her enlightened ideas and freer habits, proposes to voice her own mind and safeguard her own interests, true to the American principle, which declares that each class shall take care of itself. No man would be willing to put himself in the power of any other man; why should a woman be content to be a woman, whose disabilities are emphasized by the attractions and temptations of sex?

It is often objected that woman is already virtually represented by her father, brother or husband; but who is to represent her when she has none of these? When our fathers, in old Colonial days, protested against taxation without representation, England advanced this argument. The patriots scouted the claim, and insisted that all just government rests on the expressed consent of the governed. Another objection is urged, that the possession of the ballot cannot right all wrongs, and that the franchise for generations, yet politics are corrupt. All the greater need to give to woman, and call in the conscience of the community to relieve the flabby virtue of the franchise and save the State. Both sexes should have the opportunity of self-expression, and the advantage of self-protection.

The unmistakable influence possessed by women in politics should be sobered by a sense of responsibility. Irresponsible influence, which rests upon fashion, caprice, or sensibility, ought in order to produce a better government, to be turned into acknowledged power, to be exercised in the light of duty. Women are luxurious, selfish and frivolous, because they have been trained to find wealth, position and pleasure the greatest goods in life. If this potent influence of theirs were checked to wide ends, and they were made to feel that it could make or mar the State, the new responsibility would prove the greatest education of the world.

Power without responsibility is outrageous; power without responsibility is equally abhorrent. The United States is slow in granting the suffrage to women, as compared to other countries. Statistics prove that in nearly all the civilized countries, where women have had some form of suffrage for years, it is no novelty for women to hold office, and the names of great rulers who were women come down in history equally with the statesmen and conquerors who have left their stamp upon the ages.

It is often given, as a reason against female suffrage, that if woman was given the ballot, she would neglect her home. Men have neglected their homes for years, yet the vast majority of them never dream of neglecting their business, because of the franchise. If men can be spared from the workshop, the bank or the court, long enough to drop a ballot, surely women can do the same, without any great danger to the household machinery. The professional politicians are few; if women were granted the franchise there is no reason to suppose they would become presidential politicians en masse, any more than the men.

Many urge that, if women vote, they should be obliged to do military duty.

They have done it for years, in the commissary department; in the wards of the hospital, and in strengthening and sustaining the fighting force of the nation. Military science does not consist in fighting alone. In our day, moral service is recognized as of equal value with physical, even in war. Brute force must be fed, clothed, sheltered, nursed, cheered, and this is the peculiar sphere of woman, has been and will ever be. Until clergyman are disfranchised, and soldiers who are detailed for camp duty, because they do not shoulder a musket, the franchise cannot consistently be denied woman on that ground.

To the objection that it is unwomanly to invade the domain of men, Dr. Martin summarized many things pertaining to woman's present undisputed and acknowledged "sphere," and declared as his belief, that whatever God made a man or a woman able to do and to do well, He must have intended them to do. Thousands of women successfully engage in business, and make their mark in professions and the liberal arts, and it is no more unwomanly to vote than to sing in public, or to act on the stage. The idea of woman's "sphere" lying strictly in the seclusion of her home, is a reversion to oriental ethics of society. She can be as modest and womanly at the polls as in any other business or social relation. Her stake in the commonwealth is as great as man's. She has equal intelligence and more morality. Her interest in the evils which afflict and endanger the body politic is as great as his, for they bear even more sharply on her than on him, and the country loses half its resources when it shuts women out from the influences which minister to growth.

In conclusion, Dr. Martin assured his hearers of his firm belief that the new woman, innovation as she is declared to be by the conservative ones of this earth, will preserve all the delicacy of old, and will add new elements of beauty and attractiveness, in spite of partly because of them. Her spirit of charity and love, and her fitness for wifehood, motherhood and all social obligations, will be just as great, but her new freedom will make her more self-contained, more self-reliant, broader in her views, wider in her sympathies, more companionable, and better acquainted with life in all its varied phases.

Brute force must be fed, clothed, sheltered, nursed, cheered, and this is the peculiar sphere of woman, has been and will ever be. Until clergyman are disfranchised, and soldiers who are detailed for camp duty, because they do not shoulder a musket, the franchise cannot consistently be denied woman on that ground.

To the objection that it is unwomanly to invade the domain of men, Dr. Martin summarized many things pertaining to woman's present undisputed and acknowledged "sphere," and declared as his belief, that whatever God made a man or a woman able to do and to do well, He must have intended them to do. Thousands of women successfully engage in business, and make their mark in professions and the liberal arts, and it is no more unwomanly to vote than to sing in public, or to act on the stage. The idea of woman's "sphere" lying strictly in the seclusion of her home, is a reversion to oriental ethics of society. She can be as modest and womanly at the polls as in any other business or social relation. Her stake in the commonwealth is as great as man's. She has equal intelligence and more morality. Her interest in the evils which afflict and endanger the body politic is as great as his, for they bear even more sharply on her than on him, and the country loses half its resources when it shuts women out from the influences which minister to growth.

In conclusion, Dr. Martin assured his hearers of his firm belief that the new woman, innovation as she is declared to be by the conservative ones of this earth, will preserve all the delicacy of old, and will add new elements of beauty and attractiveness, in spite of partly because of them. Her spirit of charity and love, and her fitness for wifehood, motherhood and all social obligations, will be just as great, but her new freedom will make her more self-contained, more self-reliant, broader in her views, wider in her sympathies, more companionable, and better acquainted with life in all its varied phases.
